

THIRD TUNE

Nine Psalm Tunes for Archbishop Parker's Psalter

Psalm 2

Thomas Tallis c. 1505-1585

1. Why fum'th in fight the Gen - tiles spite, in fu - ry 3. Let us they say break down their ray of all their
 5. Then shall his ire speak all in fire to them a - 7. Gods words de - creed, I (Christ) will spread for God thus
 9. With i - ron rod as might - y God, all re - bels 11. The lord in fear: your ser - vice bear, with dread to rag - ing stout? Why tak'th in hond the peo - ple bonds and cords. We will re - nounce that they pro - gain there - fore. He shall with threat their ma - lice said to me. My son I say thou art, this shalt thou bruise and break them all in pie - ces him re - joice. Let ra - ges be re - sist not fond, vain things to bring a - bout? The Kings a - rise the nounce, their loores as state - ly lords. But God of might in beat, in his dis - pleas - ure sore. Yet am I set a day, I have be - got - ten thee. Ask thou of me, I small, as sherds the pot - ters use. Be wise there - for, ye ye, him serve with joy - full voice. The son kiss ye lest Lords de - vise, in coun - sels met there - to a - heav'n so bright, shall laugh them all to scorn. The king so great, on Si - on hill full fast. Though will give thee, to rule all Gent - iles londes. Thou kings the more, re - ceive ye wis - doms lore. Ye wroth he be, loose not the way of rest. For gainst the Lord with false ac - cord, a - gainst his Christ they go.

 Lord on high shall them de - fy, they shall be once for lorn.
 me they kill, yet will that hill, my law and word out - cast.
 shalt pos - sess in sure - nes - se, the world how wide it stondes. jud - ges strong of right and wrong, ad - vise you now be fore.
 when his ire is set on fire, who trust in him be bless'd.